DETAILED ACTION

The drawings are objected to because the proper symbol or label must be provided for circle 12 and block 14 in figure 1 in accordance with 37 CFR 1.84N,O. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the phrase "the present invention provides is improper. Also, the page includes surplus material and should be submitted on a separate page. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-20 and 22-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Winebaum.

Winebaum shows the method and apparatus for providing a calling card or disposable DTMF tone emitting promotional item that includes a trigger means for tripping a micro-switch for activating a speaker to a programmable chip which emits a preprogrammable sequence of DTMF tones, see figures 1-5, and cols. 2, 3, 4, lines 50 et seq., and cols. 6 and 7.

With respect to claim 14, such reads on the purchasing of a prepaid calling card, the initial balance corresponding to the customized service, see col. 2, lines 27-31.

The recited access code reads on Winebaum's appropriate extension number, col. 3, lines 17-20.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winebaum.

Winebaum fails to suggest completing a telephone connection if a balance is greater than a predetermined amount.

The examiner contends that this is a conventional feature associated with the purchasing of a calling card, see col. 7. When the balance is exceeded, no more calls can be made on the calling card. Such is conventional.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to associate a telephone connection with respect to an account balance in the calling card arrangement of Winebaum because the specific use and advantages of call authorization or call completion based on the account balance in a calling card arrangement is clearly suggested in the conventional prior art systems as evidenced by the conventional calling card features.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Feldman shows the method and apparatus for use of a calling card and includes accessing a credit account, col. 1, lines 6-32 as well as the provision of an access code or PIN.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to DONNIE L. CROSLAND whose telephone number is 571-272-2980. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Fri, 9:30a-6:00p.
